ABSTRACT

This abstract contains a summary of the experimental or theoretical results of your research paper. The content of this section should not exceed one page. Otherwise, we will face many problems in the final format of your paper. It is better if the English abstract is more concise than the Persian abstract. Avoid general and introductory discussions in the abstract. If you use Latin symbols or abbreviations in this section, you must introduce them in the abstract text. Avoid referring to references and footnotes in the abstract section.
